

ACCENT on YOUTH

CIVIL AIR PATROL'S
CADET PROGRAM for
YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN OF HIGH SCHOOL AGE

National Headquarters
CIVIL AIR PATROL—USAF
Ellington AFB, Texas

That's right; stop the countdown at 14—the minimum age at which boys and girls may be "launched" toward aviation and aerospace careers as cadet members of the Civil Air Patrol. (Boys and girls under 14 are eligible for membership provided they are enrolled as regular students in high school or its equivalent.)

Are you a citizen of The United States, of good character and within CAP's "countdown" age bracket of 14 to 18? If so, consider this an invitation to count up the many opportunities Civil Air Patrol offers you!

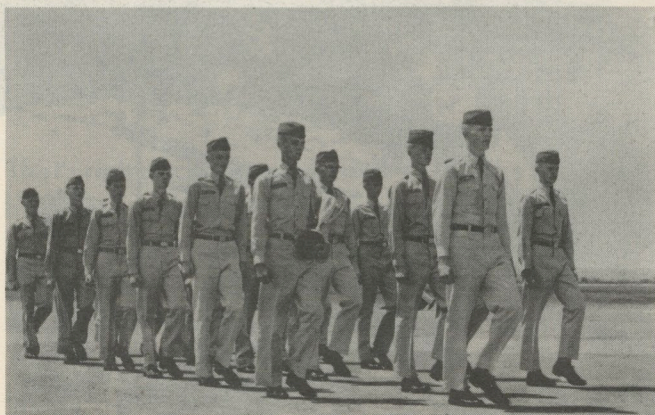

As a CAP cadet you may spend two weeks of your summer vacation living on one of Uncle Sam's Air Force Bases. (This is an experience you won't want to miss. Fun in the sun and the chance to sample life in the Air Force!)

Participate in Civil Air Patrol's Aviation Education Program. Find out what makes an airplane fly. Visit airports, weather stations and radar installations. Learn to "talk the language" of pilots, navigators and communications experts. Discover AEROSPACE (it's really out-of-this-world!)

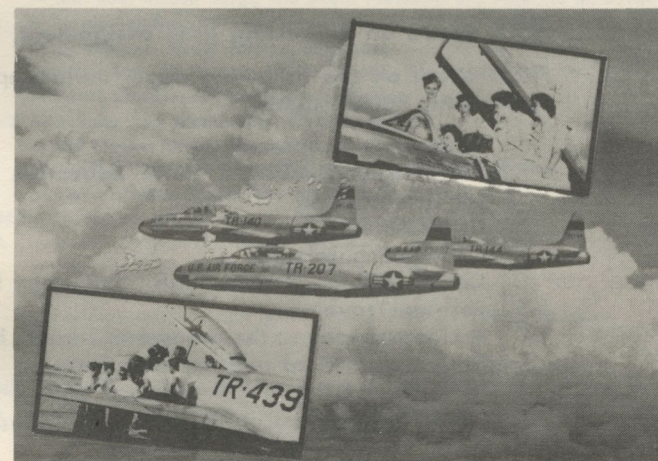

Wear—proudly—the uniform of the United States Air Force! Civil Air Patrol is the civilian auxiliary of the Air Force and all CAP members are authorized to wear the USAF uniform with distinctive Civil Air Patrol insignia. However, CAP members are under no obligation to join the Air Force or any other branch of service. (On the other hand, of course, membership in the Civil Air Patrol does not excuse anyone from possible military service under the Selective Service System.)

How's your coordination? Think you could make one of Civil Air Patrol's crack drill teams? Well, practice makes perfect and many a CAP novice has gone on to develop the kind of snap and precision associated with cadets of The United States Air Force Academy. (As a matter of fact, CAP's top drill teams are invited to compete at the Academy for national honors!)

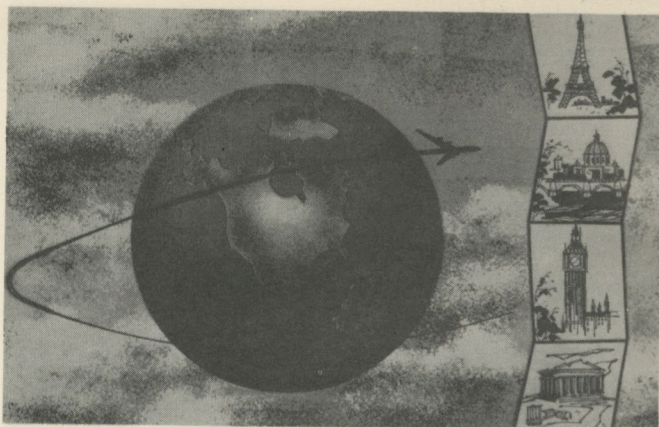

Civil Air Patrol cadets earn the respect of their communities by assisting CAP senior members during search and rescue missions and other emergencies. Although not permitted to fly* on these assignments, cadets prove they can handle important responsibility as ground rescue, first aid, and communications specialists.

Have you ever wondered how it would feel to sit in the cockpit of a jet trainer? Boys selected to attend CAP's jet orientation course at Perrin Air Force Base, Texas, find out (And as an added treat, get a "pilot's-eye" view of the world from 18,000 feet!)

Girls, too, are invited to try for the jet age orientation course at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama, where they learn of the many opportunities open to women in today's Air Force.

*With permission of their parents, cadets may take orientation flights in both USAF and CAP aircraft.

Like to travel? Then you know that just thinking about a trip to Europe, South America or the Middle East is enough to stir the imagination. Actually boarding a big ocean hopping transport plane and heading for one of those far-off places adds up to the thrill of a lifetime! A dream? Not for more than one hundred outstanding male cadets who, each summer, are selected to participate in Civil Air Patrol's International Air Cadet Exchange. And as these young men wing their way toward foreign soil, Air Cadets from other lands visit the United States. For both groups—an adventure in friendship and understanding!

Now, here's an interesting little assignment. Ready?

✓ FIRST check off the following opportunities open to Civil Air Patrol cadets:

- ☐ Summer Encampment
- ☐ Aviation and AEROSPACE education
- ☐ Jet Orientations
- ☐ Drill Competitions
- ☐ College Scholarships
- ☐ Citizenship training through Community Service
- ☐ Foreign Travel
- ☐ A close-up look at the many fine careers in both civilian and military aviation.

✓ NEXT add or divide these opportunities—
—even subtract one or two.

No matter HOW you figure it, the answer is clear—
CIVIL AIR PATROL CADETS ARE GETTING A REAL
HEAD START ON TOMORROW

✓ NOW prove this for yourself—
